EDITORIAL

THE MAGAZINE OF ALPHA PHI DELTA makes its bow. It succeeds the Ticker and the Chapter Letter, both of which were esoteric sheets distributed to the undergraduate members only.

No doubt, the MAGAZINE will have many faults. Time and experience will be necessary for the gradual elimination of these errors. In the meantime, we hope the members will be indulgent and will co-operate with the Staff by pointing out possible improvements.

The Editor has been given the most hearty co-operation by the Chapter Editors and by the members of the Staff. Two of the Associate Editors have been at the head of their college publications. Another assistant is a student of journalism. The Business Manager is well versed in accounting. His assistant is likewise. Each man has had definite responsibility and has attended to his work promptly and efficiently.

The aim has been to develop fraternity men who can carry on the work independently, should the need arise. So far, with the first issue three such men are available. It is the plan of the Editor to bring in more men in contact with such work and to gradually retire.

The MAGAZINE OF ALPHA PHI DELTA takes its place alongside the major fraternity publications of the United States. Its pages will reflect the glory and the achievements of the Fraternity.

A great part of the strength of Alpha Phi Delta will lie in the solidarity of the regional graduate clubs. Every graduate, nay, even the undergraduates, can help out in the formation of such groups. Meetings should be arranged at convenient hours. They should be as informal as possible. It is a good plan to adopt the Rotary or the Kiwanis idea. Get around a dinner table and chat while you eat. The basis of the meetings should be social. Business matters should be reduced to a minimum and delegated to committees of one or two men. Out of this friendly spirit, greater interest in the Fraternity is bound to arise. Is there an alumni group in your community? If there isn't, why not organize one? It will be lots of fun socially. It may help you professionally.

Alpha Phi Delta now has twenty-four chapters. Soon, two more will be added. At Iowa, Virginia, Colorado and Long Island University there are prospective groups. At Chicago, St. Louis, Tulane, Rutgers, Temple and Bucknell there are possibilities. Not all of these will get in. But—the fraternity is expanding, even though its admission requirements are getting more and more rigid. The child has been growing rapidly. What are you doing to keep it healthy?

The Grand Council of the Fraternity and the Staff of the MAGAZINE wish the members of Alpha Phi Delta a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

AFTER so many years we still do not possess a written history of our Fraternity; a deplorable condition, for there are hundreds of our boys who do not know the history of their Fraternity.

The main reasons for this condition have been twofold; one, the difficulty of getting in touch with the older brothers who can give us reliable data on which to base a written history, and secondly, the difficulty of putting such a history in a permanent form so that it will not be lost or destroyed with the passing of time.

As Grand Historian I am very happy that Alpha Phi Delta has begun the publication of a magazine, for it will be a great help in accomplishing the goal: a written history of our Fraternity.

By obtaining articles from older brothers and having them published in the magazine, the facts will be obtained from the very men who were the makers of our history. These facts, by publication, will be in permanent form and will be disseminated, so that our brothers will have a working knowledge of our history even before it is finally compiled.

Following are two articles, for which we are indebted to two brothers, Dr. Guarini and Prof. DiBartolo, who with five others founded our Fraternity. Dr. Guarini gives us the setting and Prof. Di Bartolo the dates. This is a very good beginning.

For the following issues of the magazine I will endeavor to obtain articles from other brothers and by this method obtain and disseminate the full history of Alpha Phi Delta.

THERE are moments in man's life when one finds himself facing the impossibility of relating either verbally or in writing thoughts expressing remembrances of the past as related to actualities of the present.

I am facing that condition now while I try to bring back to the thousands of Brothers, memories of the Alpha Phi Delta of yesterday. I wonder if the student of Italian blood of today can visualize another young man of same blood enrolling as a student in a great American University in 1911 with the great handicap, that of lacking the knowledge of the language. If you can visualize him, you can see him nervously run his eyes through the six thousand names of students hoping to find a name or names which at least would sound like Italian. In vain—he had to be satisfied with waiting for the future, and with the new year there came Ferdinand Di Bartolo—Anthony Frascati—Nicholas Frunzi and others. Let me present these Alpha Phi Delta Brothers as I met them, in a chronological order.

Ferdinand Di Bartolo—I waited four or five months before I took it upon myself to meet Freddy. I did not want to meet him. No wonder, they had told me that he was a goody-goody sort of a fellow, instructing people how to become angels. I was looking for life, an outlet for my repressed youthful expressions of life. Well, one beautiful morning he was pointed out to me.

"Freddy, you must remember that day. With your black bushy Sicilian hair to the wind, I met you near Jack's. We meant that shake, Fred, and never had a fight. No wonder, did you not trust your girl to me on Sundays while you used to go to Cortland and teach the people how to be good?" Freddy had then what we now call "IT" and plenty of it. I could write and write about Freddy but I end here by saying that he was known as a "Good man behind the bushes."

Anthony Frascati—How wonderful his folks were to us. At his house we were overcome by the real warm, heartfelt Italian cordiality and hospitality. How many times we must have abused it. I gave him the surname of Napoleon Boney-Part. Look at his picture and wonder if Napoleon ever went to Sicily.

Nicholas Frunzi—"Nick" was from New York City. Had to go to Church every Sunday and attend Sunday School also, but, well, look at him during the other six days of the week. Nick with the ladies—well brothers, let your imagination go as fast as the victorious plane of the Snyder race. If my memory does not fail me, the writer and the above three brothers spoke for the first time about an Italian Fraternity. So we waited, waited for Gelormini, the serious-minded scientist. Alfredo Giordano, the great mandolin player of yesterday—and great physician of today. Joseph Cangiamila, the boy from Buffalo, with the smile that never failed.

My room in the Cosmopolitan Club was the rendezvous of the first Alpha Phi Delta bunch; and there one night, seven of us, by the dim light of two candles strangely illuminating a skull (for which I had paid ten dollars to study upon) placed on two crossed rusty daggers, swore to be true to each other; if one would fail—well, one of the daggers would be used as a memento. Those few minutes we will never forget.

Brother Frunzi caused a representative from Balfour to come. We described what we wanted.

"Well, Gentlemen, it is going to be quite a Fraternity pin and quite expensive for the company. By the way, how many are you?" he asked.

CAMPUS LIFE IN THE DAYS OF
YORE—F. D. DiBARTOLO

NICHOLAS FRUNZI—IN ALL HIS GLORY

"Well just seven now, but the future . . ." The gentleman from Balfour must have realized by now that in our youthful fantasy we were right in talking of a great future for the Alpha Phi Delta.

Now comes what we had been postponing right along. Steps to receive recognition by the authorities of the University. A committee was appointed: Di Bartolo, Guarini and Cangiamila. Then, one morning we gathered enough courage to present ourselves to Chancellor Day. Freddy, who Prof. Irene Sargent had described as having the round mouth of the orator, was the speaker.

Freddy: "Chancellor Day, we Italian students of the University feel that we could do better work if we could unite ourselves in the form of a fraternity, we could . . ."

Chancellor Day: "Gentlemen, I don't feel as I could give permission for a new fraternity here, there is no necessity; we have many American Fraternities and if you are worthy of them I am quite sure the portals of some of them will be opened to you."

"Apriti O Cielo!"

I begged the Chancellor to hear me.

"Chancellor, I must correct a statement of my Brother Di Bartolo. We come here to advise you that the Alpha Phi Delta is already organized and we are united by an oath." It must have struck the Chancellor in one of those moments when he was all heart.

"Well Gentlemen, there was no necessity for you to come at all. Good-day."

"Good-bye my job" said Freddy. (He taught classes in Italian.)

"Maria," murmured Cangiamila.

"I don't give a d—if I am kicked out" said I.

In due time our pins came. What ecstasy in admiring them.

Were we not proud! Did we not walk for hours and hours with our left hand in the pocket of our trousers to draw back the left front of our coat so that we could show our Alpha Phi Delta pin! Then the student Directory came out and with it the fatidic three letters  $\text{A } \Phi \Delta$  after each one of our names.

The birth of the Alpha Phi Delta.

Then comes the period of the war, and Alpha Phi Delta's contribution to the million heroes who perished during the great war.

Dominick Ciolli—what a golden smile he had. "Tell me Doctor, do you now, indulge in a glass of vino?"

Del Monico—he could pick up any girl. No wonder, he sported around with a Cadillac. (?)

And then among the ruins of everything some good brother found of the Alpha Phi Delta only a spark, but that spark in their hands rekindled a fire that in a short time made of the modest Alpha Phi Delta of yesterday, the great mass of the Alpha Phi Delta of today, telling the world that there is no end nor boundary to the progress of the sons of an immortal race, sons who will remember and use their ancestors' greatness as a stimulus for their future conquest.

I will end this narration by remembering a remark passed when we were arguing with the representative from Balfour about the pearls in the pin. One of the Brothers said:

"Pearls mean tears."

You were right, brother, those pearls meant tears to me during the last convention, but tears that you and I and the other brothers of yesterday would love to share as an expression of uncontrollable happiness in looking over the thousands of wonderful boys belonging to the Alpha Phi Delta of today.

CESIDIO A. GUARINI, S. U. '15.

IT IS well-nigh impossible to set down an adequate account of the early history of Alpha Phi Delta without a fleeting glance at the hopes, aspirations, struggles and disappointments experienced in the laying of the foundations which later were to support the gigantic superstructure that has since been developed by the master builders of our organization. The tiny seed that was planted in a mighty ideal in 1914, slowly germinated and was nurtured by the bubbling enthusiasm of a mere handful of fellows who gave freely of their time and substance.

In speaking of the forces that led to the inception of Alpha Phi Delta, we must go back to the 5th of November, 1913, when Il Circolo Italiano was formed in Syracuse University at the home of the late Professor Charles W. Cabeen, head of the Department of Romance Languages of the College of Liberal Arts. There were then seven Italian students who formed the active membership. At that meeting I had the honor of being elected president of the organization. The Circolo was very active and succeeded in attracting the attention of the entire University with artistic and elaborate programs given at regular intervals. It culminated with the "Italian Night" which drew hundreds of people from the University, from the city of Syracuse and a number from out of town. The affair was held at the Cosmopolitan Club House of which organization I was also the president. It is impossible to give adequate praise to the committee in charge, whose untiring efforts and unbounded resourcefulness were responsible for the marvelous success of the evening. The University paper, The Daily Orange of February 9, 1914, and the city papers profusely described the affair in their columns. I quote from the headlines:

ITALIAN EVENING PROVES TO BE WONDERFUL SUCCESS

Cosmopolitan Club House Transformed Into Beautiful Summer Garden for Occasion

Sparkling Fountain Adorns Miniature Fairyland

Rare Paintings of Italian Art Receive Commendation of Guests

Many Faculty Members Show Interest

Cosmopolitan Club Like a Bower of Fairyland

It was at the conclusion of this event, as we became reminiscent, that Cesidio Guarini, Anthony Frascati and I agreed to form a fraternity. For weeks we discussed the matter from every angle. We met after classes and at night. We sounded the other fellows. We proposed plans, argued and became more and more determined that the formation of a fraternity was a need.

On October 20, 1914, the first official meeting of Alpha Phi Delta was held. The Brothers present were: Cesidio A. Guarini, Anthony Frascati, Nicholas Frunzi, Otto Gelormini, Dominic T.

Ciolti, Joseph Cangiarnila and myself. Brother Frunzi was unanimously chosen Chairman pro-tempore. The names proposed for the organization were Alpha Iota Alpha and Alpha Phi Delta. The latter name was chosen. The rest of the evening was spent in discussing plans for the future. Enthusiasm ran high. On November 5, 1914, after a long and lively discussion the oath was formulated and the sword was adopted as the symbol to swear upon. Each one of us was then duly sworn. We thus became full-fledged Alpha Phi Delta men and ready for the task that lay before us. Before we could actually function as a fraternity, however, it was necessary to get recognition from the University authorities. Since I was an instructor in the College of Liberal Arts, I was chosen chairman of a committee to interview Doctor James R. Day, Chancellor of the University, to obtain his approval. Dr. Day was very cordial, as usual, and after talking together for about three-quarters of an hour, gladly granted his permission.

It would be unfair to try to give the personnel of the different committees appointed, since every member of the organization readily lent a hand in every bit of the work that there was to be done. There was so much to be accomplished,—and only seven of us to do it! As I remember them, the following are some of the committees appointed that completed the task assigned to them: Constitution; ritual; pin; coat of arms; charter; banner; whistle and grip; national cup competition; scholarship; motto; pledge; etc.

In the meantime, Brother Frunzi had transferred from Syracuse University to Columbia, where he was instrumental in establishing the Beta Chapter.

Thus the Alpha Phi Delta Fraternity came into existence. When in 1917 I made my residence in Buffalo, N. Y., my first thought was to form a chapter in the local University where I had met a number of fine fellows, among whom Brother Joseph A. E. Syracuse was a never ending source of inspiration. A meeting of those interested was called in the music room of the Grosvenor Library. The news spread like wildfire and at the appointed time the room was filled to capacity. About fifty fellows were present. I presented the facts to them and a heated and lengthy discussion followed. A few weeks later, Epsilon chapter was formed at the University of Buffalo.

I refrain from speaking of the many objections that in the

LAMBDA UPSILON

MANHATTAN COLLEGE

MANHATTAN College is conducted by the Brothers of the Christian Schools, a congregation of religious teachers who owe their foundation to St. John Baptist de la Salle. Any syllabus of the history of education will reveal the fact that the Brothers from the time of their origin in 1684 until the present day have been actively engaged and devoted to educating the masses in the various Christian nations on the face of the earth. The contribution of the Brothers to the field of pedagogy was the work they accomplished in elementary education whereby they introduced the present system of grades; and normal schools where future teachers were trained. Since St. La Salle's death, through amendment to their constitution, the Christian Brothers have expanded their activities to include secondary schools and colleges. In 1849, four of the Brothers in the U. S., a group of tireless and zealous scholars, opened a school in N. Y. C. which was destined to become Manhattan College. From its location in Canal St. the growing school was transferred several years to Manhattanville (151st St. and B'way). In 1863 the Regents of the State of N. Y. saw fit to grant a charter to the school, under the incorporated name of Manhattan College—the fourth Catholic institution in the state to be so honored. In 1921, new buildings were begun on the present location, a site lying west of Broadway on Spuyten Duyvil Parkway and 242nd Street. The complete transfer of the college took place in 1925, on which occasion His Eminence Cardinal Hayes of the Class of '88 presided. At present, the student body numbers about a thousand.

The inceptive stages of the local fraternity's career were very impressive to say the least. On May 1, 1928, Mr. A. J. Melita of Iota chapter, then a senior at Manhattan, approached several members of the Manhattan Italian Club, (the only Italian organization on the campus) with the expressed purpose of organizing a local fraternity. In this work he was assisted by Mr. F. C. Fazioli, also a senior and an Alpha Phi Delta man from Zeta chapter. It was also stated to the small group, who now comprise part of the prospective Beta Beta chapter, that the ultimate purpose of establishing a local fraternity was to join Alpha Phi Delta. In this way Lambda Upsilon came into existence, and has remained a growing and smoothly functioning group until the recent convention at Boston when the existing ties of the members were strengthened by an indissoluble bond of national character.

Enthused with the possible prospect of becoming Alpha Phi Delta members, the members of Lambda Upsilon made it their duty to visit as many chapters as possible. This work was facilitated by the friendship which was formed at the Smoker given by the Metropolitan chapters at the Hotel Martinique, New York City, on March 1, 1929. Mr. Sammartino with his usual foresight realizing the import of such a meeting invited the group to attend the function. The chapters visited on various trips were Beta, Gamma, Delta, Zeta, Eta, Theta, Sigma, and Tau.

The total number of men in the present chapter is twelve. These are distributed among the various classes as follows: Seniors 5, Juniors 3, Sophomores 4. The officers are: Raymond Incorvia, '50, consul, James Vivona, '50, pro-consul, Joseph LaMont, '51, tribune, Theo. Frattallone, '50, quaestor. The others are Anthony Petrazzuolo, '50; John DeCanio, '50; Charles Catalano, '51; Michael Armao, '51; Al DeNisco, '52; Victor Incorvia, '52; Felix Gentile, '52; Andrew DeStephano, '52.

The men are connected with quite a number of extra-curricular activities on the campus. The Quadrangle, the official college newspaper, has three men: Ray Incorvia, Joe LaMont and Vic Incorvia. The editor of this year's Koran (the freshman guide book) was also one of our group. The Glee Club has ten of the men giving their vocal talent to their alma mater. The other musical organizations namely the Band, the Orchestra and the Banjo Club have a total of four men from the chapter. In the senior honorary society, the "Pen and Sword", there is one representative. The dramatic society and the senior Year Book each have two more of the men.

As far as social activities are concerned, the group attended the smoker at the Hotel Martinique and the dinner at the Columbia House. They also sponsored a communion breakfast at which several of the authorities of Alpha Phi Delta were present. From week to week, the entire group has visited the homes of each of the members. These visits were akin to rallies and were tremendously instrumental in keeping the spirit and morale of the group alive.

RAY INCORVIA.

ALPHA LAMBDA EPSILON

WILLIAM AND MARY COLLEGE

THE Alpha Lambda Upsilon Fraternity, established at the College of William and Mary in the fall of 1928, shortly thereafter petitioned the Alpha Phi Delta for admission to the national organization.

The charter members consisted of the following men: Charles A. Marciano, who was working for his M.A. degree, and was chosen president of the Fraternity. During his stay on the campus, he was elected to three different scientific fraternities and maintained a high scholastic standing. He is attending at present the Long Island Medical School. The vice-president was Ralph De Falco who in his senior year was elected to two scientific fraternities and achieved the high distinction of being elected to the Phi Kappa Phi, a national honorary fraternity. He is a medical student at Yale University at present. Domenick J. Melfii, who is now attending at the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Columbia University, was the first secretary of the Fraternity. He has also left behind him an enviable scholastic record at William and Mary.

MANHATTAN

LAMBDA UPSILON - MANHATTAN COLLEGE

His work on the fencing team is to be highly commended also. The treasurer was Gerard Farinola, who is now leading the Freshman class at the University of Richmond Medical School. John F. Parlapiano was elected historian and Joseph A. Angell was chosen as chaplain. The other members were Walter De Martini who is now at the Harvard Dental School, Louis Arthur Perillo, Ralph Carbone, S. J. Specuzza, Francis Edward Vegliante. Michael De Carlo, Joseph Giannelli; the faculty advisers are J. Henri Amiel, and Dr. E. C. Branchi.

The Alpha Lambda Upsilon Fraternity was voted into the Inter-Fraternity Council during the latter part of the second semester of the last school year. As one of its members, we had the privilege of participating in the Inter-Fraternity functions. The Fraternity scored a signal victory in the annual baseball tournament, defeating the previously undefeated Phi Alpha Fraternity. This was the first and last game for Alpha Lambda Upsilon for it had entered the tournament rather late.

In spite of the fact that only eight of the thirteen men have returned, the Fraternity has made good progress. Among other things, it is trying not only to maintain last year's scholastic record in which it rated third among the various new fraternities, but to better it.

The present officers and members of the Fraternity are as follows: Louis Arthur Perillo, president; Joseph A. Angell, vice-president; John F. Parlapiano, secretary; Michael DeCarlo, treasurer; Ralph Carbone, chaplain; Joseph Giannelli; S. J. Specuzza; Francis Edward Vegliante; Andrew J. Cappola and Andy Albanese are the two members who were recently initiated.

The Fraternity is indeed very proud to have had the honor to be granted a charter from Alpha Phi Delta and it pledges its earnest efforts to help maintain and contribute toward its great name.

JOHN F. PARLAPIANO.

SYRACUSE BOWLING THEM OVER

THE bowling team of the Syracuse chapter is the outstanding one at Alpha. Last year it won three of its contests. This year it hopes to do much better. Needless to say, they are all on "pins" for the final result.

As usual, the Varsity Boxing Team has a good representation of Alpha Phi Delta boys. The Syracuse men are good scrappers.

The annual Colgate formal dance was held at the Hotel Syracuse on the evening before the Syracuse-Colgate game.

The officers of the chapter are Frank Pellicone, consul; David Toscano, pro-consul; Benjamin A. Perrino, tribune; Gregory P. Monacell, quaestor and Sal Rosa, historian.

YALE HONORS PETER SAMMARTINO

THE Gamma Chapter at Yale University held a gala dinner and dance in honor of the Grand Consul, Peter Sammartino, on November 29. The function was held in the spacious and beautiful Roger Sherman Night Club in New Haven. Dancing took place from nine to three. At midnight dinner was served.

Towards the end of the dinner, Michael D'Amico, Consul of Gamma, arose and introduced the toastmaster, Anthony F. Arpaia. Professor Paul

J. Salvatore of the College of the City of New York gave an interesting résumé of the beginnings of Gamma which was installed during his Grand Consulship. Brother Arpaia then presented a marble desk set to the guest of honor who arose and accepted it with thanks. He outlined briefly the activities of Alpha Phi Delta in relation to other fraternities. He was applauded with the fraternity clap and Yale cheers.

Alumni of the City College chapter attended en masse in a privately chartered Pullman train with Professor Salvatore as the master of ceremonies. Many other members attended from New York City and Boston Chapters.

The committee was composed of Michael D'Amico, James L. DeLucia, Joseph Imperati, A. Fred Mignone, Anthony R. Mormile and the ever-active and tireless worker, Bernard Pellegrino, who was a model host.

MATTIELLO FETED BY POLY

JOSEPH MATTIELLO, a graduate of Brooklyn Polytechnic and a member of Delta Chapter, was awarded a research scholarship by his Alma Mater. He was the president of the Student Council when an undergraduate and consul of the chapter.

The Poly men tendered him a dinner at Napola's and presented him with a Malacca cane. Among the guests were Prof. Canavaciol and our Grand Consul Peter Sammartino.

Chiarello and Perillo are members of the wrestling team. At a recent alumni-varsity basketball game, Napoli, ex-captain of the Poly quintet, starred for the Graduates.

Delta has new quarters at 185 Park Place, Brooklyn.

COLUMBIA ENTERTAINS TWENTY GUESTS DURING RUSHING SEASON

COLUMBIA is back at the same house is occupied last year. The Beta Chapter has held two functions to entertain prospective men during the rushing period. Many alumni attended.

The Beta boys visited the Cornell boys on the occasion of the Cornell-Columbia game. The nine guests were warmly greeted by the Ithaca members.

An intensive social program is being planned for the new year.

BUFFALO PREPARING FOR CONVENTION

RESERVATIONS have already been made at the Hotel Statler for the next convention which is to be held at Buffalo on Labor Day and the two succeeding days. Alumni and undergraduates are joining hands and promise to make history as far as conventions go.

Two informal dances have been held by Epsilon, both at the Statler. The regular meetings of the Chapter are held at the Elks' Club until negotiations are completed for a new home.

"IRON MAN" AT RENSSELAER

Arnold S. Giannetti is one of the best cross-country runners Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute has ever had. He came to college with neither running experience nor intentions of entering the sport.

His big moment came at the recent defeat of Union College. It was the first time R. P. I. accomplished it. Brother Giannetti won his run handily and without undue exertion.

In the interclass indoor track meet, he smashed the indoor mile and two-mile records on two successive days.

The Zeta house is frequently the scene of many joyful dances. The first dance of the year was honored by the presence of Prof. Edward F. Chillman, Prof. and Mrs. James J. Devine, Prof. and Mrs. Balbino R. Flores, Prof. Thomas A. Castellano, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Civillo and Dr. and Mrs. M. E. DeLuca.

ETA HAS LIVELY FALL PROGRAM

Aided by the presence of Brothers Alfonse Arbib-Costa, Paul Salvatore and Peter Sammartino, all three of whom are members of the City-College faculty, Eta has had a most eventful term.

On November 6, the boys were the guests of Prof. Salvatore. Refreshments were served in abundance and a lively spirit of camaraderie prevailed. During the course of the evening, Brothers Sammartino, Salvatore and Pagano enlivened the Chapter on many points of fraternal and collegiate interest.

On November 9, a supper dance was held at Henry's to celebrate the loss of Brizzolara and Maiorino from the ranks of the celibates, and their entrance into the Exalted Order of Ye Henpecked Spouses. A merry time was held despite the tragic nature of the cause of the celebration.

A luncheon was held at the Washington Heights Inn at which members of the faculty were guests.

On December 6, the chapter attended the Officers' Club and occupied their corner under the Alpha Phi Delta banner.

The pledges are Califiura, Campanello, Montarto, Imbella, Pocai and Salvo.

N. Y. U. TO GIVE PLAY AND DANCE

The Annual Play and Dance is under way at Theta Heights, and it's going to be bigger and better than ever. The boys are hard at work, and everything's going fine.

Theta Heights is the only Alpha Phi Delta Chapter to run an annual play and dance. Last year, they presented "Laff That Off", and it was a howling success. This year's play—we won't tell its name—is sure of being a greater success.

The boys are located at 2054 Harrison Avenue, the Bronx, somewhere in the wilds and outskirts of New York City (no Indian seen or scalped yet!) and have about 15 pledges.

Sometime in February the Heights and Square are getting together to run a joint dance. Keep your eye on Theta—they're always up to something.

THETA SQUARE OUT TO PROVE WORTH

Theta Square, after establishing itself at 235 Wooster Street, opposite the School of Commerce, of N. Y. U., started the most promising year of its career with a Smoker on November 26. It proved to be successful. A large representation of Italian youths were present. Theta Square was also honored to have the Grand Consul, Peter Sammartino and Brother Pagano present. Both Brothers gave a short talk upon the value and work of Alpha Phi Delta.

Theta Square has now a large number of pledgees and the Chapter is striving with great enthusiasm to secure as many men as possible from among the promising number of prospects. The members are also eager to put Theta Square at the top in sports and scholarship.

Theta Square has planned to arrange a social program for the year in conjunction with Theta Heights. All the Brothers are anxious to make this a very successful year and enjoy fraternity life. With this in mind, the boys have as their battle cry:

Rain or shine,
Thick or Thin,
We shall make Theta Square Win.

PLEDGEE SELF-GOVERNMENT SUCCESS AT UNION

Iota Chapter has provided for pledgee self-government. This is a rather new and novel step in pledgee relations. The plan has proved a success in all respects.

Pledgees Faulisi and Baisotto have been outstanding players on the College Team and are rated as possible material for next year's varsity.

V. E. Minotti is president of the French Club. DeMatteo and Ruota are secretary and treasurer respectively of the Spanish Club. Five of the seven sophomores in the Chapter have made the honor roll.

RENSELAER-UNION HOLD JOINT DANCE

FOR the first time, members of our Iota and Zeta Chapters have realized a long-hoped-for dream.

On Saturday, December 14, the two chapters held a joint formal dance at the Hotel Hampton in Albany. The affair was a great success attracting many alumni residing in the neighboring territory.

PENNSYLVANIA BOYS ACTIVE IN SPORTS

Let us go down to the U. of P. football field. We are just in time to see little Jackie Ruggiero racing around left end. In case you don't know it, Jack aspires to the position of quarterback on the Red and Blue team.

Achilles Pappano, he with the famous Greek name, is working very industriously with the goal of the inter-collegiate wrestling champion in his reach.

Little "Gus" Caniglia is giving some of the big boys plenty of competition down on the basketball court nightly.

"Drip" La Capra, our man about town, takes enough time away from his lady friends to afford some keen competition down at the bowling alleys.

Brother Travaline, Grand Chaplain, is a constant visitor at the house, as is Brother Pinto, and although both men have finished their course of study at the University, their love for Alpha Phi Delta still persists. It seems that they cannot do enough for Lambda.

Edward Salvato is consul of Lambda.

Pappano wrestles with the pro-con-sulship. Santoro and La Capra are tribune and quaestor respectively.

ROOMMATES ACHIEVE GLORY AT CORNELL

Gene Maiorana is a star player on the Cornell baseball team. He has been awarded the major "C". At many crucial moments, he has pulled the Ithaca team out of a predicament. Membership into the "Aleph Samach", the Junior class honorary society, has been bestowed upon him.

His roommate, Frank Principe, is working very hard and is practically assured of a berth on the basketball five this year.

The Alpha Phi Delta Lodge has had as guests many visitors from Gamma, Epsilon, Iota, Beta and even from far-off Kappa. The five Kappa men came to accompany Palmieri who played on the Western Reserve team.

On December 6, a formal Initiation Dance was held at the Lodge.

NEW NU HOUSE

Undaunted by the fact that the "best fraternity house on the campus" had to be sold, the members of our Pittsburgh chapter were set in their decision to have a chapter house. With the able work of DeAngelis and Tamburo, a comfortable house has been established at 2444 Allequippa Street, but five blocks from the University.

The chapter has entertained many out-of-town brothers. Xi, Kappa, Pi and Psi men have found a hearty welcome awaiting them at the Nu house. Pittsburgh hospitality is still as warm as ever.

Unfortunately, the horse-shoe pitching team of the Chapter has lost its match. They should take lessons from the championship Omicron team at Michigan.

The bowling league consisting of Cellio, Puglia, Tamburo, Lamberti and DeAngelis have a good chance of annexing the Interfraternity cup.

The basketball team have expectations of winning the silver loving cup again, just as they did two years ago.

ALPHA PHI DELTA IN JAPAN

Our song which goes: "The name of our frat is Alpha Phi Delta, we have no brothers in Japan, etc." is all wrong. Anthony Centanni, short-stop on the Michigan varsity baseball team, went along with the team on its recent trip to Japan. The team was away three months. Centanni played in each game.

On November 20, a dinner was given in honor of Nick Lucas, the "Crooning Troubadour". All the members were there and they were unanimous in the praise of their guest.

A dance was given in honor of the Ohio State boys on the occasion of their annual football game.

A $50,000 home is maintained in spite of the great stroke of ill-luck last year when their sumptuous new home burned down and the chapter funds stolen. As a matter of fact, plans are afoot to purchase a new and bigger home.

The chapter's interfraternity teams are very active and have good chances of gaining high places among the eighty-nine fraternities on the campus.

The pledges of the chapter are: Luis Polito, Frank Battel, Frank La Placa, Al Sala, E. DiStefano, Vincent DiFrancesco and Frank D. Colpietro.

DONATE $5000 FOR XI HOUSE

At a recent banquet and dance, Brother Cianfona, Grand Orator of the Sons of Italy, presented a plan whereby that Order will donate approximately $5000 toward a house fund for the Ohio State chapter.

The house was bought recently and is now one of the beautiful sites on the campus. On October 12, the brothers and their guests met at the Xi house, 1985 Waldeck Avenue, and had a "house warming" that will always be remembered.

THE XI HOUSE AT COLUMBUS, OHIO

The chapter's athletic teams have yet to be defeated in any sport this fall. Teams participate in speedball, bowling, and indoor baseball contests. The boys have won the speedball championship by defeating the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity—the largest athletic fraternity on the campus and the champion for the last three consecutive years.

In baseball, the next indoor game will decide the league championship.

Last year, XI ranked fourth in athletic standing; this year XI aims to be on top. Even the pledgee teams are holding their own.

Several successful social functions were held, including a formal Initiation Banquet.

HARVARD MEN ENTERTAIN AT ELKS

The third annual ball of the Upsilon chapter was held at the Elks Hotel in Boston. It was a brilliant success and added glory to Harvard's fair name.

Quite contrary to the general notion of Harvard coldness, the Upsilon men are very active and join in with the Boston and M. I. T. many times during the year. At the recent Thanksgiving dance of Sigma and Tau, Upsilon was well represented.

ALABAMA A POPULAR COLLEGE

There seems to be a popular conception of the University of Alabama as being something apart from the civilized world where lazy students with drooping heads pick cotton during their off-hours. Nothing could be further from the truth. Our Phi Chapter is one of our liveliest of chapters, always ready to respond and maintaining a fine record with the University authorities.

The University is a most wonderful place. It is a town in itself and it is called University. Actually it is an outgrowth or somewhat of a suburb to Tuscaloosa. The buildings are all of a low, luxurious type with plenty of space. Our boys have rented a cozy little home where their time is well budgeted between study and good times.

The nearest large town is Birmingham. A third or perhaps half of the Phi boys come from Birmingham. The city is the week-end haven for the boys. The usual thing is for the boys to pile into their cars and roll on to "B'ham" There, those who live there, become the hosts. The chapter boys are quite popular and there is usually plenty of fun wherever the "bunch" goes.

The greater part of the boys are Northerners, many coming from New Jersey and New York. A number are transferred students from other chapters. The two-year medical school is a popular division of the university and attracts a number of our boys.

The spirit at Phi is most sincere; most chummy. It is a well-unified chapter; high scholastically, active socially, alive in fraternity matters.

FRANCIS J. PALADINO.

WHY DUQUESNE HAS GOOD FOOTBALL TEAM

Psi Chapter has three varsity football players under the tutelage of Elmer Layden—one of Notre Dame's famous Four Horsemen.

Donelli, this year's as well as last year's football captain, is considered Duquesne's greatest football player. His punting ability is due to his amateur soccer experience. This is his last year and he will have completed four years of varsity football.

Ferrare, varsity guard, and Tauelli, varsity end, have enhanced the Duquesne machine by their ability. They are only sophomores and give much evidence of living up to expectation.

Consul Pesci is one of Duquesne's most popular and active students. He is captain of the track team, President of the Inter-Fraternity Council, Vice-President of the Student Senate, and has been chosen chairman of the next student assembly.

Scholastic standing at Psi is quite high and there is much competition. Psi Chapter rates high at Duquesne and is considered the leading national fraternity on the campus.

B'HAM TEAM DEFEATS HAM TEAM

Boll-Weevil Blamed for 13-0 trouncing given to Alpha Phi Delta team.

Our fierce, bouncing youths from "Way Down South" thought they could play Football. So they thought. Accordingly, Phi Chapter challenged a B'ham (Southern for Birmingham. The boys are too lazy to write it out) team called the "Jolly Boys" who have been playing football for four years. Our own boys have been reading about football in the "True Story" magazine and were just in the spirit to "do or die for our Fraternity". At any rate it was a case of brawn and brain both of which were possessed by the "Jolly Boys" who won 13-0.

Captain "Wuggy" Wugliotta wriggled a few spectacular plays. Bluebird Colucci made a few hair-raising long runs. Scafati applied his parlor technique to his tackling. Pledgee Pachiano, former running mate to Carideo, the famous Notre Dame player, wormed his way through the line time and again. Paladino, picked out from under the pile-up during the game was singing "I Wish I Was in Astoria".

A huge crowd of Birmingham and Bessemer folks were on the sidelines. That evening, the boys had an informal banquet at the home of Brother Madonia. Having failed to eat their way through the enemy lines in the afternoon they proceeded with unusual success to eat their way through the Madonian Victuals.

SIGMA TAU HOUSE AT BOSTON

NEW PENN STATE HOUSE

One of the first acts of the semester of Chi Chapter at Penn State was the purchasing of a new and more spacious home, ideally located near the front campus. The new home has attracted many pledgees and indications are pointing to many more.

A novel idea was suggested by John F. Occasione that a gold medal symbolic of the highest average of the year will be given to a fortunate pledge. The grades show that the pledgees are striving for this prize.

Chi chapter owes much of its success to the new and efficient officers who are:
 Herman Cardoni, Consul
 James Galassi, Pro-consul
 John Ambrosino, Quaestor
 Albert Magnotta, Tribune
 Albert De Bonis, the sensational sophomore, is the leading scorer and center forward of the Lions' unbeaten and intercollegiate champion soccer team.

In every game, played by Penn State, De Bonis has been the outstanding player. He has bewildered opposing teams with his plays. Many critics have lauded his antics in the soccer field, and a few experts have nominated him for the All-American Soccer team.

BOSTONIANS OFF FOR EUROPE AND PORTO RICO

A highly interesting bit of news is the departure of two Sigma brothers to Europe for further study. Joseph D'Amato was sent by B. U. College of Liberal Arts to study in France, and Joseph Milo left for Italy to study medicine at the University of Bologna.

Another one of the boys who is missed at the house, is Angelo Traniello. He received an appointment as an associate professor in accounting at the University of Porto Rico. When he got there, he was too warm so he played football on the faculty team at Porto Rico.

Sigma chapter is proud of its alumni, for they are making a success in life as attorneys. Five of the Sigma boys passed the bar exam recently.

Sigma and Tau Chapters have given a Hallowe'en party and a Thanksgiving Dance which were both social successes.

OUR "MINER" CHAPTER A MAJOR CHAPTER SOCIALLY

The West Virginia boys were hosts to the Duquesne boys on the occasion of the football game between the two chapters. The Pi house was put at the disposal of the Psi boys and general merriment was the order of the day.

The West Virginia house is a cozy little place and is the scene of many enjoyable social functions. Brother Morello, the houseman, is efficient in his duties. The kitchenman, Brother Hands, is a rather handy individual, and you've got to "hand" it to him for keeping the boys off the obituary column; at least no deaths have been reported as yet.

PSI VS. PI

The Chapter was awarded third place in the Interfraternity Speedball Tournament. The boys are now preparing for the Track meet.

LANDOLFI LEADS UNIVERSITY IN SCHOLARSHIP

Fred Landolfi has led the West Virginia University in scholarship twice. For the second time his name has headlined the College paper for his achievement. During 1927-28, he led with an average of 95.85. In 1928-1929 he achieved 96.36.

But, fear not, Fred is not a petrified book-worm. He is a normal, full-blooded young man active in the chapter and popular among the student body. He was elected to the second highest office in the Student Council, namely, Senior Representative. He was also chosen Treasurer of the student body.

Being a major in the history department and also known to be a very capable student, he was chosen to act in the capacity of a Student Ass't in History, by the head of that department. He has collaborated with Dr. L. Frasure, a history professor at the University, in writing an article which has already been published in "The Maryland Historical Review."

100 PER CENT ATTENDANCE AT M. I. T. MEETINGS

Tau takes pride in celebrating its first anniversary in a constant 100 per cent attendance at its meetings!

The M. I. T. chapter started with twelve charter members, and it now has eleven active brothers, eight inactive, and seven bouncing pledges. Some record for baby Tau, yes?

Tau has held all of its social functions in conjunction with Sigma, and reports overwhelming successes by this novelty method of cooperation.

The boys expect to be way up on top at the end of the year. To the out-

COLLEGIANA

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA has performed a classic piece of work in its survey trying to answer the question, "What is a fraternity college?" It embraced 235 institutions. While the problems of Alpha Phi Delta are different from those of a larger fraternity, we have drawn from the report a comparison of colleges where we have chapters.

Not all of our colleges are covered. The methods of comparison would not be the same in a survey conducted from our own viewpoint. Still, the figures are interesting.

The collegiate world will watch with interest the administration of Dr. Robert Maynard Hutchins, the new thirty-year-old president of the University of Chicago. Dr. Hutchins' rise to the headship of one of America's greatest universities is unprecedented. He was formerly dean of the Yale Law School. He is a member of Alpha Delta Phi.

Fraternity men in Michigan may find themselves involved in the toils of the law, should they attempt to pin their badges over the hearts of fair coeds, for the Michigan legislature at its last session, passed a bill which may prove a blight to college engagements. The new law prohibits the wearing of fraternity or lodge badges or insignia by anyone not a regularly enrolled or initiated member of the organization. It was designed to prevent the promiscuous wearing of badges and penalties were set up to discourage the practice. At the time the law was passed no one thought of the complication that might arise out of the collegiate custom of "giving the girl a pin". The act became effective on August 27.

The honor system which has had hard sledding at Yale was abandoned by last year's freshman class.

standing student, a charm will be awarded, the same as given in extra-curriculum activities.

A chapter year book is being considered.

RAGO ROCHESTER BASEBALL
CAPTAIN

After playing varsity basketball and baseball for two years, Frank M. Rago of Omega has been elected the captain of next year's ball tossers. He has received offers from major league teams so that we may yet see his name in the sport columns during the pennant season.

He is now the consul of Omega and a member of Chi Rho and Pro Concordia, honorary fraternities at the University of Rochester.

Omega Chapter is second among the fraternities on the Rochester Campus. It expects a number of its members to be wearing Phi Beta Kappa keys soon.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

formative years of the Fraternity have had to be surmounted, of the disappointments met, the disillusionings experienced, the discouragements weathered. These unpleasant things have had to be conquered in all worthwhile undertakings and in retrospection they pale into insignificance. The unparalleled success that our Fraternity has experienced vindicates its existence. From the time of its birth Alpha Phi Delta has been growing continuously and sending its roots deeper and deeper into the lives of thousands of young men in the Universities of America, giving light, strength and inspiration; a power for good, beneath whose influence we glory. Nor is its star setting, but radiant still it lights the way to countless individuals who find guidance in its spreading rays.

To you, young student members, falls the mighty challenge of keeping its glorious past untarnished. Into your hands we have placed the torch. Keep it high and pass it on ever shining to those who follow.

FERDINAND F. DI BARTOLO.

Inferfraternity

THE Interfraternity Conference held its annual two-day meeting at the Hotel Pennsylvania in New York City on November 29 and 30. The Conference is composed of sixty-six national fraternities.

Alpha Phi Delta is a Junior member. It was represented by Peter Sammartino, Grand Consul and Paul J. Salvatore, Grand Delegate.

Many highly valuable reports were read including those on deferred pledging, fraternity laws, publicity and visitation of chapters. The scholarship committee gave a most interesting report stating that the standing of the fraternity men throughout the United States in general was a slight fraction below that of the non-fraternity men throughout the country. Had it not been for the very low scholarship of the fraternities at Columbia, it would have been above the general average. At Columbia, eighteen of twenty-four fraternities were far below the school standing. It may be interesting to note that Beta Chapter at the college is one of the few above the average.

Secretary of the Interior, Ray Lyman Wilbur, who is president on leave of Leland Stanford Junior College, talked most interestingly on the tendencies of collegiate education. He explained how the junior college was taking its place in the educational system of America and how the acquiring of a Bachelor's degree was a mere side issue in going from the junior college to the university and professional school. He spoke on the part fraternities can and must play in this transition.

On the evening of the second day the annual dinner and conference of the College Fraternity Editors' Association was held. Alpha Phi Delta was represented by the Editor of its Magazine.

ROUTINE

ALL chapters excepting Alabama will be visited officially twice during the scholastic year. A Chapter Visit Report is submitted by the visiting officer to the Grand Council.

For the facilitating of alumni club organization, there are two publications available: (1) Technique of Forming Alumni Clubs; (2) Blank Petition for Alumni Club Charter. Both may be had from the Grand Consul.

Mimeographed directions for the forming of a prospective chapter and the preparation of a Charter are available from the Grand Consul.
